

CHILD SAVED FROM ELLIS ISLD. POOR CONEY ISLAND—REFORM WAVE HITS IT HARD

Gabrielle Hunter

Gabrielle Hunter, the 10-year-old daughter of Mrs. J. Young Hunter, a prominent English painter, who arrived from England alone and would have been sent to Ellis Island if it had not been for Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, who offered to assume charge of her.

English engineers have built a paper making machine that will turn out 650 feet of newspaper, 175 inches wide, a minute.

New York, July 12.—Coney Island's bathing beach was a barren strip of sand today, and likely will remain that way, it was said, so long as scores of detectives with measuring sticks and binoculars continue to patrol on lookout for naughty bathing suits with short skirts and 1-piece garments with large apertures for the arms. Scores of warnings were given to Sunday's crowds. Hereafter arrests will take the place of warnings, the police said.

Capt. Glidden, in charge of sleuths, today gave out following list of banishments for women:

- One-piece suits.
- Knitted jerseys with open sleeves.
- Skirts that do not reach the knees.
- Garments with low necks and backs.
- Tights without a bathing suit over them.

The "bathing sock," which shows the bather's dimpled knee, is also barred, the captain said.

U. S. GETS MEAGER REPORTS ON MEXICAN SITUATION

Washington, July 12.—"It looks like Carranza," was general verdict here on Mexican situation today.

Information concerning conditions in Mexico City was not as definite as government would have liked. Accepted as fact that Carranzistas had occupied capital. That there would have been rumors of it, if foreigners had suffered, was believed also.

Carranzistas in Washington said General De Lara, who is was stated, had been dispatched from Vera Cruz to assume the governorship of the federal district, was an efficient, vigorous administrator and might be relied on to keep or restore order, feed the people and protect foreign lives and property.

Mrs. Squirrel (hysterically)—Well, I do declare, if they haven't bored right into our pantry for maple sirup!
